5th CANADIAN CONFERENCE ON ELDER LAW

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

Society is undergoing the largest demographic shift in the history of human kind. In Canada, it is estimated that one in every four people will be over the age of 65 by 2036. But what are we doing to plan how to recognize and respond to our aging clients' needs?

The 5th Canadian Conference on Elder Law will take place October 29-30, 2010 at the Delta Chelsea Hotel in downtown Toronto and will bring together Canadian and international experts, academics, lawyers and advocates to promote and advance the discussion of elder law issues.

The conference will be hosted this year by the Law Commission of Ontario (LCO), the Canadian Centre for Elder Law (CCEL) and the Advocacy Centre for the Elderly (ACE).

This year's theme is: "Developing an Anti-Ageist Approach to the Law." The conference will address a range of issues within the theme and in relation to elder law, including the following three broad issues: ageism and the law; access to justice for older adults; and law reform and older adults.

The conference pre-day for the World Study Group on Elder Law will be held on Thursday, October 28. The conference will officially kick-off with the Red Shoe Reception on Thursday evening. On Friday evening, join us for a reception and dinner celebrating the 25th anniversary of ACE.

Whatever your interest in the law affecting older adults, you will benefit from attending this conference.

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE ORGANIZERS

The Canadian Centre for Elder Law (CCEL) is a national not-for-profit organization dedicated to improving the lives of older adults in their relationship to the law and conducts research, outreach and public legal education on elder law issues. Its parent body, the B.C. Law Institute, first began studying issues of "elder law" in 1999, with support from the Law Foundation of British Columbia. In July 2003, the B.C. Law Institute formally established the Canadian Centre for Elder Law and today, the CCEL is recognized for its expertise in Elder Law issues both in Canada and internationally.

The Law Commission of Ontario (LCO) was launched in September 2007 as an independent body funded by The Law Foundation of Ontario, the Ontario Ministry of the Attorney General, Osgoode Hall Law School and the Law Society of Upper Canada, all of whom provide funding for the LCO, and is supported by the Law Deans of Ontario's law schools. It has a mandate to develop recommendations for provincial law reform to increase access to justice. The LCO has undertaken a project to develop a coherent framework for the law as it affects older adults, and the Conference will contribute to this work.

The Advocacy Centre for the Elderly (ACE) is a specialty community legal clinic and a pioneer in promoting and protecting access to justice for low-income seniors in Ontario, since 1984. ACE provides direct legal services in a wide variety of areas of the law affecting seniors, including: long term care, health care consent, mental capacity, mental health, pensions and income, home care, retirement home tenancies, and elder abuse. ACE is primarily funded by Legal Aid Ontario.
